i Where a transfer requires one or more currency conversions, the Sender's funds will be converted into the currency in which the Recipient receives the transfer. The exchange rate applicable on the date of the transfer, as determined by our International Money Transfer System, will be used for such conversion.

You can review the applicable exchange rate and fees before confirming the transfer. The fee and exchange rate will be displayed on the transfer confirmation screen and will also be available in the transaction history.

ii Promotional fee for international money transfers by individuals to China.

The Bank reserves the right, at its sole discretion, to extend the promotional period, change the applicable fee and/or amend any other terms and conditions of the promotion.

iii Fees for international money transfers to the Republic of Uzbekistan and the Kyrgyz Republic shall become effective upon technical implementation and the actual launch of the respective transfer services
